Jonathan C. Spear Memorial Scholarship
Prehistoric Archaeology of America

The Department of Anthropology is now accepting applications for the Jonathan C. Spear Memorial Scholarship. This award honors Jonathan C. Spear who was an undergraduate student in the department in the 1990s. The award is specifically for students studying the prehistoric archaeology of America.

The Award:
- Full tuition and fees for one semester.

Eligibility:
- Undergraduate students currently enrolled or admitted to the University of Tennessee, Knoxville.
- The student awarded this scholarship must be completing his/her junior year or entering his/her senior year.
- The student awarded this scholarship shall have demonstrated successful performance in the study of prehistoric archaeology of America.
- The award is based on academic achievement. Financial need is not a determining factor; however, it may be a consideration.
- The award will be made to a student enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences, Department of Anthropology with a concentration of study in prehistoric archaeology of America.
- Previous winners are ineligible.
- Students may apply for the Jeffers or the Spears scholarships but not both.

How to Apply:
- Submit a letter indicating your interests and accomplishments respecting the study of prehistoric archeology of America, and the names of three individuals who can act as academic references.
- Submit a completed application form, obtainable from Ms. Pam Poe (Room 252 SSH) or Dr. Gerald F. Schroedl (Room 231 SSH).
- Submit a complete academic history (transcript of courses taken and grades) and a DARS report.

Deadline for Submission:
- Applications must be received no later than Friday, 4 October 2013.

Selection of Recipient(s):
- Applications will be reviewed by the Undergraduate Curriculum Committee (Dr. G. F. Schroedl [chair], Dr. B. Auerbach, and Dr. B. Louis, who will make a recommendation for final selection by the Anthropology faculty.