Considerations Before Deciding on Actions

The action is_________________________________________________________

The needs it addresses are_____________________________________________

The grade levels included are_________________________________________

The target student group(s) is/are_____________________________________

The key features are__________________________________________________

If _______________________________* is implemented fully as recommended,

- Will it directly and positively impact the targeted student group?
  - Is there adequate and reliable research support to recommend this action for us with our students?

- How long is the implementation period to reach full capacity or high-quality implementation?
  - Is that reasonable and agreeable to us?

- How consistent is it with current instructional practice?
  - Are the necessary adjustments doable, feasible, and worthwhile?

- How consistent is it with current assessment practice?
  - Are the necessary adjustments doable, feasible, and worthwhile?

- How consistent is it with current organizational processes, practices, and policies?
  - Are the necessary adjustments doable, feasible, and worthwhile?

- Is high-quality professional development available and reasonable?
  - Are we willing to commit these resources to fully implement the action?

- How complementary is it to other proposed or existing actions?
  - Is it aligned with other existing (or proposed) actions?

- How appropriate is it for our personnel at this time?
  - Are we able to identify all readiness considerations before launching this action?

- Are the necessary resources available or within our budget to acquire?

- Is the necessary faculty (and other) support evident?
  - Do we feel that the necessary support can be generated?

- Are the implementation requirements within our means?
  - Do front-end costs decrease after the first year or over a reasonable time frame?
  - Does research evidence recommend this as a cost-effective action?

- Does it promote productive and positive involvement of our parents, families, and community?

  ➢ Additional Questions: